Speaker Overview

The Only Three-time Commanding Officer of The Blue Angels

Greg Wooldridge, also known as "Boss", is a highly respected leader known for his ability to build high-performing teams based on communication, trust, and teamwork. His heart-driven approach proved to be a perfect match for the Blue Angel's culture of excellence, where he successfully led three teams through times of difficult transition. Inspired by his success, Gregg now shares his methods to empower individuals and teams on their journey towards high performance.

In flight candidate school, he learned camaraderie from his classmates, an emotion that helped elevate individual performance through team effort. Later, as commander of a carrier squadron, Greg recognized the potential of a motivated team and its ability to perform at maximum efficiency.

After being selected as Blue Angel's CO, Greg experienced taking his dreams and beliefs to new heights. His success illustrates how any organization can redefine high performance.

Greg's Keynote Highlights

John Foley inc.

His unique experience resonates with all audiences, and his keynotes offer insight on :

- The top 0.01%: The Blue Angels pilots represent the epitome of excellence, and their achievement requires exceptional leadership. Greg's remarkable success in leading the team serves as an inspiration for any group aiming to reach their full potential.
- The "Tip of the Spear": Being an effective leader requires a mindset of trust, confidence, and open communication. Great teams win together.
- Extreme Focus & Precision: Every maneuver performed by the Blue Angels comes with a risk. Greg employs strategies that emphasize focus while maintaining safety and accuracy.
- The Glad To Be Here® Mindset: The mindset designed to empower others as they embrace gratitude, purpose, passion, and presence.

Greg "Boss" Wooldridge won't just inspire your team, he will help you push the edge of the envelope on performance.

LEADERSHIP QUALITIES