

Former Training Officer of the Blue Angels

Nate "Utah" Scott's keynote presentation will motivate and inspire your team. As a Navy fighter pilot, Nate lived all facets of high performance. After several combat deployments, Nate became a fully qualified F/A-18 Flight Instructor and Head Landing Signals Officer, teaching all aspects of flying and fighting F-18s and the fine arts of landing them on aircraft carriers.

He recently graduated from the world-renowned Navy Fighter Weapons School TOP GUN as an Adversary Instructor, where he was privileged to put the lessons he learned as a Blue Angel to the test.

Nate understands what it takes to succeed on an individual level and how to forge a great team that will succeed at the highest level.

Nate's energizing delivery inspires High Performance with a grateful mindset. Here's what you can expect with Nate's keynotes:

- Awe-inspiring storytelling and electrifying video of the legendary Blue Angels in action.
- The Glad To Be Here® Mindset, designed to empower others as they embrace gratitude, purpose, passion, and presence.
- A unique approach that equips others to take the same journey toward excellence, teamwork, and transformation.

Our CFO had the distinct pleasure of seeing Nate speak at a conference in 2022. His presentation made such an impression on him that when I was tasked with finding a speaker for our strategic plan rollout event, I did not hesitate to contact the John Foley Centerpoint Companies.

His personable and professional approach left us feeling equipped and able to continue toward the goal of excellence, team and transformation...he delivered over and beyond our expectations, from start to finish!
